BLUESTONE INCOME: This strategy attempts to deliver additional current income versus traditional equity income strategies with reduced volatility, and also lower levels of interest rate risk compared to a debt strategy. The strategy seeks to achieve this objective by investing in a broad basket of yield-producing assets including common and preferred equities, exchange traded debt, and ETFs/ETNs. This diversity allows us to seek higher yields than a more traditional income product while still providing volatility reduction through active asset allocation model-based decision making. The strategy does not invest in junk bonds or distressed debt securities.

BLUESTONE INCOME PLUS: This strategy is very similar to Bluestone Income and uses covered call option writing to generate additional income for the portfolio. Income Plus seeks a significantly higher yield than a more traditional income product through buy-writes of underlying securities.

This report should not be construed as a solicitation to purchase or sell any security. All investing involves risk, including the loss of principal. There is no assurance that this Program will be able to achieve its investment objective. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Future performance may be higher or lower than show. Returns are presented in USD and are calculated net of all brokerage commissions, execution costs, and investment advisory fees and include all dividends and interest, accrued income, realized and unrealized gains or losses. The Bluestone Income Composite includes all Bluestone Income strategy accounts not a part of a WRAP program. The Bluestone Income strategy seeks to generate income by selecting securities that pay dividends or interest. From September 1, 2010 through September 1, 2011 the Bluestone Income Strategy was run at a prior firm by the same portfolio manager. The Bluestone Income Plus Composite includes all Bluestone Income Plus strategy accounts not a part of a WRAP program. The Bluestone Income Plus strategy seeks to generate income by selecting securities that pay dividends or interest and also employs an option writing strategy. The returns shown are for composites of all accounts managed in the strategies which meet Bluestone Capital Management's stated criteria for inclusion in the composites. Actual fees, which are negotiated at the time of account opening, may vary and thus, individual returns will vary. * Portfolio Beta is measured against the S&P 500 Index. * Benchmark refers to the strategies' benchmark, which is 60% MSCI EAFE High Dividend Yield (Net) Index, 30% Barclays Global Aggregate Bond Index, and 10% FTSE 1-Month Treasury Bill Index, rebalanced monthly and includes reinvested dividends.
